Billy G.(?Goslin) Gooch was born about 1752 in North or South Carolina. He married Karen Happuck Hilliard(widow? of Jeremiah Hilliard of New Kent, Virginia. They married 1777-1780 in Butte County, North Carolina (Butte Co Marriages by Mary Hinton Kerr, page 55). In Will Book II, page 161 (No other source was given me) shows Billy Gosling Gooch to Kerron Happuck Hillard, Widow of New Kent, Virginia, Deed dated November 11, 1777. The will of Billy G. Gooch is in Camden, Kershaw County, South Carolina. Hugh Bird is mentioned in the 1803 will of Billy G. Gooch as the husband of Mildred Gooch, daughter of Billy Gooch. The 1803 will of Thomas Dixon mentions Hugh Bird. Both of these wills are in Camden, Kershaw County, SC but I do not have a copy of either one. We do not know of Hugh Bird's parents. Billy and Karen (according to the file at the Morman Church Library) had the following children: Karen Gooch born about 1761 died on May 2, 1840 probably in Lowndes County, Alabama while living with daughter Mildred and husband Hugh Bird.

Betsey Gooch b. 1778 SC

Polley Gooch b. 1780 SC

Rebeckah Gooch b. 1782 SC

John Gooch b. 1784 SC

Henry Gooch b. 1786 SC

Mildred Gooch b. 1788 SC born July 24, 1783 in North or South Carolina and died on July 18, 1855 in Highland Home, Alabama. The Bird family history is available to any family members that request it.

Nancy Gooch b. 1790 SC

Patsey Gooch b. 1792 SC

Mahala W. Gooch b. July 4, 1794 SC died August 8, 1857 in Lancaster, SC. She married William Duncan on October 5, 1818 and one other named Coil.

This is the limited amount of information I have on the Gooch family and feel free to print any of this you deem would be interesting to any of your readers.

Banvard, John page 183 BANKS, Nathaniel Prentiss, statesman, was born in Waltham, Mass., Jan. 30, 1816. He received a common-school education and at an early age was employed in a cotton mill. Subsequently he became editor of a local paper, then studied law, and in 1849 was chosen to represent his native town in the legislature of Massachusetts. By a coalition of the Democratic and Free Soil parties he was elected speaker of the state assembly in 1851, and re-elected in 1852. In 1853 he became chairman of the Massachusetts constitutional convention, and in 1852 was elected to the 33d U. S. Congress as representative from Massachusetts, and was re-elected to the 34th Congress as a candidate of the American Massachusetts, having been elected to that office in November as a Republican or "Know-Nothing" party. When Congress assembled in December, 1855, Representative Banks was named as speaker of the house, and after a prolonged contest was elected and took the chair Feb. 2, 1856. As presiding officer of the representative body of Congress he made the remarkable record of having been sustained in all his rulings. He was again elected to the 35th Congress as a Republican, and served until Dec. 4, 1857, when he resigned to take his seat as governor of Massachusetts, having been elected to that office in November as a Republican. He was re-elected to that office in 1858 and again in 1859, and in 1860 he succeeded George B. McClellan as president of the Illinois Central railroad. When the civil war began he resigned, was commissioned major-general of volunteers, and commanded the 5th corps of the army of the Potomac. His first battle was Winchester, March 23, 1862. In April and May of that year he was left with two divisions to guard the Shenandoah valley, General Shields's division being withdrawn. Banks, with eight thousand men, was attacked by "Stonewall" Jackson's entire corps, and on May 26 he made a masterly retreat, escaping with some difficulty by crossing the Potomac at Williamsport, and thus saved his entire force from capture. He joined the army of Virginia under General Pope at Cedar Mountain, Aug. 9, 1862, and his corps there held the advance against a vastly superior force of the Confederates for two days, when being reinforced he drove the Confederates to the Rapidan. General Banks was employed in the defence of Washington and afterwards commanded an expedition which sailed from New York in November and December, 1862, to New Orleans, where he assumed command of the department, succeeding Gen. B. F. Butler. He took possession of Baton Rouge, made an expedition up the Teche country, and invested Port Hudson in connection with the fleet of Farragut. In July, 1863, the news of the surrender of Vicksburg was received, and on the 9th of that month the garrison of Port Hudson surrendered to the investing forces of General Banks. Early in 1864 his army, reinforced by ten thousand men and accompanied by a strong naval force, under Gen. A. J. Smith, undertook the Red river campaign. The combined force led by General Banks advanced rapidly up the Red river as far as Sabine cross-roads, where they encountered the Confederate forces under [p.183] Gen. Richard Taylor, and were driven back to Pleasant Hill; but on the following day, when the Confederates renewed the attack, they were repulsed and the Federal forces enabled to retire to Alexandria, where they awaited the gunboats stranded above by reason of the subsidence of the spring freshets. When the boats were released by Colonel Bailey's dam, the combined land and naval forces fell back to the Mississippi river. The failure of the expedition was charged to General Banks, who, however, disclaimed the responsibility of the undertaking. In May, 1864, he was relieved of his command, resigned his commission and returned to his native state. He was elected a representative to the 39th Congress in 1865 to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of D. W. Gooch, and was re-elected in 1866-'68-'70 and again elected in 1874. In 1879 he was appointed U.S. marshal for the district of Massachusetts by President Hayes, and served until 1888, when he was again elected to represent his district in the 51st Congress. Harvard college conferred on him the degree of LL.D. in 1858. He died in Waltham, Mass., Sept. 1, 1894.

BENTON, Thomas Hart, statesman, was born near Hillsborough, N. C., March 14, 1782; son of Jesse and Anne (Gooch) Benton. His father was a lawyer and private secretary of Governor Tryon. Thomas obtained a good education, and when he was sixteen years of age his mother, a widow, moved to Tennessee and took possession of forty thousand acres of land near Nashville, which was part of her husband's estate. With his three brothers he engaged in cotton planting, but their first crop was ruined by a heavy frost, and Thomas abandoned planting to take up the study of law and was admitted to the Tennessee bar. He sat for one term in the state legislature, where he secured the passage of a law for the reform of the judicial system of the state and another by which the right of trial by jury was given to slaves. During the war of 1812 he served as an aide-de-camp to Andrew Jackson, then major-general of the Tennessee militia, and marched with the Tennessee troops to the defence of the Lower Mississippi. While serving under General Jackson the friendly relations which had so long existed between them suffered a severe strain, which lasted for a number of years. William Carroll and Jesse Benton, a brother of Thomas, became involved in a dispute, and a duel was fought in which Jackson was Carroll's second. Jesse sent an offensive account of the affair to Thomas, and on Sept. 4, 1813, Jackson, with some friends, chanced to meet the Bentons in the streets of Nashville. Jackson struck Thomas Benton with a horsewhip; knives and pistols were then freely used, and Jackson received a ball in his left shoulder, while Jesse Benton was cut severely with a

The Twentieth Century Biographical Dictionary of Notable Americans: Volume II, C. Cabell, William

CABELL, William, pioneer, was born in Warminster, England, March 20, 1700. the eldest son of Nicholas and Rachel (Hooper) Cabell, and a grandson of William Cabell, who went to Warminster about 1664, and died there in 1704, probably belonging to the Frome-Selwood family. William Cabell, the descendant, was graduated from the Royal college of medicine and surgery in London, and after practising a number of years entered the British navy as a surgeon. He came to America about the year 1723, and settled in Virginia. The first really authentic record of him is in 1726, when he was deputy-sheriff in St. James parish. Henrico county, an office of great importance at that time. Probably some time in 1726 he married Miss Elizabeth Burks, and in 1728 removed to a settlement on Licking-Hole Creek, in what is now Goochland county, where he was elected a justice of the first county court, held from May 21 to June 1, 1728. In November of the same year he was made a member of the first grand jury, and in December was qualified as a coroner, his knowledge of medicine and surgery fitting him for the office. From 1730 to 1734 he spent much time in locating lands for settlement in the region west of the mouth of the Rockfish River, being the first Englishman to make such an attempt. In 1733, having located a large tract of land, he "entered for" it, but, before finally securing the legal right to the land, was obliged to go to England, leaving his wife and two friends as his attorneys. The survey was made in 1737, extending for twenty miles along both sides of the James river. In 1738 a patent for 4,800 acres of land was issued to him by Gov. William Gooch, and, in 1739 a grant of 440 acres was added. Dr. Cabell returned in 1741. In 1743 he was granted 1,200 acres adjoining his patent of 4,800 acres, and soon after his return from England he removed from Licking-Hole Creek to the mouth of Swan Creek, in Nelson county. After erecting dwelling houses, a mill, a warehouse and other buildings, he named the place Warminster, and for more than half a century it was a thriving commercial centre. In 1744 Albemarle county was formed, and he was one of the first justices; in August, 1746, he was commissioned coroner, and in September assistant surveyor of the county. In December, 1753, having increased his land by about 26,000 acres, he gave up his surveying business to his son William. He practised in his own county and those adjacent, and charged from one to five pounds, Virginia currency, for each visit. His services were usually engaged with the agreement that if the patient was not cured, the doctor would receive no pay beyond the immediate expense incurred. His wife, Elizabeth, died Sept. 21, 1756, and on Sept. 30, 1762, he married Margaret, widow of Samuel Meredith. The bulk of his property he left to his son Nicholas, who was married April 16, 1772, to Hannah, daughter of Col. George Carrington. See The Cabells and Their Kin, by Alexander Brown (1895). Dr. Cabell's death occurred April 12, 1774.

G Gooch, Frank Austin GOOCH, Frank Austin, chemist, was born in Watertown, Mass., May 2, 1852; son of Joshua Goodale and Sarah (Coolidge) Gooch; grandson of Samuel and Hannah (Goodale) Gooch, and of Josiah and Mary (Hastings) Coolidge, and a descendant of John Gooch, Robert Goodelle, John Coolidge and Thomas Hastings, all resident in New England previous to 1640. He was graduated from Harvard in 1872, was an assistant in the chemical department there, 1873-75; studied in Europe and at Harvard, 1875-77, and received the degrees of A.M. and Ph.D. from Harvard in 1877. After two years more of post-graduate study at Cambridge he was appointed in 1879 a special agent of the 10th census and engaged in the expert analysis of iron ores and coals. He was chief chemist of the northern transcontinental survey, 1881-84; a chemist of the U.S. geological survey in Washington, 1884-85; and the latter year was appointed to the chair of chemistry at Yale where he planned the Kent chemical laboratory. He devised various forms of chemical apparatus and contributed to the literature of chemical research. He was elected a member of the National academy of sciences in 1897; was a Fellow of the American academy of arts and sciences, and a member of other scientific societies. The honorary degree of M.A. was conferred upon him by Yale in 1887.

GOOCH, Daniel Wheelwright, representative, was born in Wells, Maine, Jan. 8, 1820. He was graduated from Dartmouth in 1843, was admitted to the bar in 1846, and began practice in Boston, Mass. He was a representative in the state legislature in 1852; member of the state constitutional convention in 1853; a representative from the seventh Massachusetts district in the 34th congress to fill a vacancy, and was re-elected to the 35-38th, and also to the 43d congresses, serving, 1856-65 and 1873-75. During the four years of the joint congressional committee on the conduct of the war, he was chairman of the house members, and personally conducted the investigation of the Fort Pillow massacre. He was naval officer at the port of Boston, Mass., in 1865, and U.S. pension agent there, 1876-86. He died in Melrose, Mass., Nov. 1, 1891.

L. - Langworthy, Edward

LANGSTON, John Mercer, representative, was born at Louisa Court House, Va., Dec. 14, 1829, the youngest of three sons of Capt. Ralph Quarles by Lucy Langston, a negro slave. His father died in 1834, and by his will freed the boys. John was then taken to Ohio, and was placed in the family of Col. William D. Gooch, a friend of his father's, where he received a primary education. He was a student at the more advanced colored schools of Cincinnati, Ohio, and was graduated from Oberlin, A.B., 1849, A.M., and B.D., 1852. He studied law in the office of Philemon Bliss, at Elyria, Ohio, and was admitted to the bar in 1855; being the first colored man admitted to the bar in the United States, and he practised in Ohio, 1855-67. He was clerk of the township of Brownhelm in 1855; was admitted to practice in the supreme court of the United States in 1867, upon motion of James A. Garfield, and removing to Washington, D.C., he resumed his practice there. He was inspector general of the Freedman's bureau, 1868-70; a professor and dean of the law department of Howard university, 1869-76, which department he established, organized and conducted according to his own methods, and he was elected vice-president and was acting president of the university in 1874. He was a member of the board of health of the District of Columbia, and its attorney, 1871-78; U.S. minister-resident and consul-general of Port-au-Prince, Hayti, and chargé d'affaires near the government of Santo Domingo, 1877-85. He was then employed by a leading commercial house to act as their attorney in the West Indies, and he returned to the United States after an absence of two months to accept the presidency of the Virginia Normal and Collegiate institute, which office he held, 1885-88. He was a Republican representative from the fourth Virginia district in the 51st congress, 1889-91, and claimed to have been re-elected but counted out of the 52d congress, but declined to contest the seat. He was nominated by acclamation for the 53d congress by the Republican convention held in Burkeville, September, 1892, but declined to be a candidate. He was elected a fellow of the Victoria Institute of England. The honorary degree of LL.D. was conferred on him by Howard university in 1875. He is the author of: Freedom and Citizenship (1883); and of many articles, letters and addresses on educated and political topics, published in magazines, newspapers and pamphlet.

L.- Lee, Thomas LEE, Thomas, colonial governor, was born at "Stratford," Va., about 1702; fifth son of Richard and Lætitia (Corbin) Lee, and grandson of Richard Lee, of the privy council of Charles I. and founder of the Lees of Virginia. He was for many years a member and president of the king's council and commander-in-chief of the colony of Virginia. In 1744 Governor Sir William Gooch appointed him, with William Beverly, as commissioner to treat with the Iroquois Indians. They journeyed to Philadelphia in a yacht and met the Iroquois at Lancaster, Pa., where they secured the right of settling the lands west of the mountains as far as the Ohio river. Lee originated a plan for the exploration and settlement of these lands, which, however, he failed to carry out. He built the second manor-house with nearly one hundred rooms, the original house built by Richard Lee having been destroyed by fire about 1735, during his proprietorship of the estate. The money to rebuild the mansion was furnished by private subscriptions, headed by the governor. He was married to Hannah, daughter of Col. Philip Ludwell of Green Spring, near Williamsburg, Va., by his second wife (his first wife having been Lady Berkeley) and granddaughter of Philip Ludwell, governor of North Carolina, 1689-91. He had six sons, Philip Ludwell, Thomas Ludwell, Richard Henry, Francis Lightfoot, William and Arthur, and two daughters. He was for some time acting governor of the colony and was appointed governor in 1750, the first and only native-born Virginian to hold that office by appointment of the crown. He died soon after receiving his commission, at Stafford House, Va., in 1750.

St. Mark's Episcopal Church.--In December, 1863. a number of citizens of Evanston petitioned to Rt. Rev. Henry J. Whitehouse, Bishop of Illinois, for the formation of a Church society. The paper represented that $2,000 had been subscribed and that enough citizens had signified their intention to form a Church to make the enterprise an assured success. In April. 1864. Bishop Whitehouse gave his consent for the organization of the society, and Rev. John Wilkinson, chaplain to the Bishop, gave notice in the chapel of the Northwestern University that services of the newlyformed society would be held in the Methodist church on the 20th of April. Mr. Wilkinson, at that time, conducted the services, and a constitution was adopted and signed by the following persons: A. G. Wilder, John A. Lighthall, H. B. Hurd, D. J. Crocker, John Lyman, J. H. Kedzie, F. M. Weller, F. G. Siller, H. Clay Cone, J. S. Haywood and William C. Comstock. Cherries Comstock was elected Senior Warden and D. J. Crocker, Junior Warden. For some months the trustees were ramble to select an appropriate church site. and finally in February, 1865, the lot donated by the Northwestern University was accepted and building commenced. Rev. T. J. Halcomb served as rector of the parish, and the church edifice, the main building, 46x26 feel, was erected on the corner of Davis Street, and Oak Avenue. In August, 1865, it was resolved to extend a. call to Roy. J. W. Buckmaster, of New York.

Mr. Buckmaster was succeeded in August, 1869, by Rev. William Newton, of Norwalk. Ohio. In November. 1870, Rev. A. J. Barrow. of Bedford, Penn., assumed the rectorship. Rev. Dr. W. M. Reynolds accepted a call to preside over the mission in May, 1871, and Rev. Cornelius S. Abbott. of Alton, in April. 1872. In tim mean time the church building had been improved in various ways, and in July, 1875.

the vestrymen held a meeting to consider the proposition of enlarging the edifice, finally accepting the offer of the ladies of the Church to add an east wing and make other improvements themselves. In December. 1875. Mr. Abbott resigned and Rev. J. Stewart Smith, of Cleveland, was called to the charge in January, 1876. In April. 1879. the "Free-Church System" was adopted, by which the society was to be sustained by subscription instead of by pew rents. After being tried four years the Church returned to their former system. Mr. Smith resigned in December. 1879. and Dr. F. S. Jewell, of Fond du Lac, became rector of St. Mark's in May, 1880. In September. 1883. an addition was made to the churh, upon the west. so that now the edifice is spacious and imposing. At the time the last edition was made the society also purchased a fine pipe organ, at a cost of $1,550. In March. 1883. the following officers were elected: Charles Comstock, senior warden: Wells Lake, junior warden: H. C. Wicker. George E. Gooch. C. H. Dyer, N. C. Gridley, S. E. Dunham. C. M. Goodrich, John A. Comstock and M. M. Kirkman. vestrymen. William C. Magill, is clerk. St. Mark's Parish, under the rectorship of Dr. Jewell, has increased in membership and is now recognized as among the leading religious organizations of Evanston.

Name: James W. Vose James W. Vose(1869), piano manufacturer, of Boston, son of Whiting and Mary (Gooch) Vose, was born Oct. 21, 1818, at Milton. He married, Sept. 17, 1847, Miss Almira Howe, of Charlestown. He graduated at Milton Academy in 1834, and learned the trade of cabinet-making. In 1839 he came to Boston and found employment in a piano manufactory, and in 1846, on his own account, began the manufacture of piano keys as a business. He added the manufacture of pianos in 1851, disposing of his key business in 1855. The manufactory of Vose & Sons is at the corner of Washington and Waltham streets, Boston, and is one of the largest in the United States.

Nebraska: the Land and the People: Volume 2

Herbert E. Gooch has been in the most significant sense the architect of his own fortunes, and that he has wrought wisely and well is attested in his status as one of the most substantial, progressive and influential business men in the city of Lincoln, where he is president of the Gooch Milling & Elevator Company, president of the Gooch Food Products Company, and president of the Star Publishing Company.

Ed. note: I found no dates with this article. In vol. 1, no 4, page 82 I printed a label for "Martha Gooch thin Spaghetti" with a company name of Gooch Foods Inc. Lincoln NE. So as recent as 1992 that firm was producing food products. Info' anyone? See next entry. CD

Mr. Gooch was born in the city of Chicago, Illinois, September 10, 1878, and was a small boy at the time of his father's death, so that he early found it incumbent upon him to assist in the support of his widowed mother and to depend upon his own resources in making his way forward in connection with the practical affairs of life. He is a son of Herbert E. and

Lotta (Amsden) Gooch, the former of whom was born in England, whence he came to the United States and established his residence in Chicago when he was a young man, and the latter of whom was born in the state of New York, her ancestors having come from England to this country at an early period in the eighteenth century. Mr. Gooch was still a mere boy when he accompanied his widowed mother to St. Paul, Minnesota, where his mother still maintains her home. He was but ten years of age when he left school and found employment that enabled him to aid in the support of his mother, and his broader education has been that gained through self-discipline and through the tutoring of that wisest of all instructors, experience. As a lad Mr. Gooch found employment in the office of the Western Union Telegraph Company in St. Paul. As a young man he engaged independently in the grain-brokerage business at Duluth, Minnesota. In 1904 Mr. Gooch came to Nebraska, where he established himself in the grain-brokerage business, and where he is now one of the foremost representatives of this important phase of the grain industry. He organized in Lincoln the Gooch Milling & Elevator Company, of which he is the president, as is he also of the Good Food Products Company, which likewise was organized by him. These are representative of two of the leading industrial enterprises in Nebraska's capital city, and in a general way the business of Mr. Gooch in connection with the grain industry is one of the largest and best ordered in the entire Middle West. Civic loyalty as well as business judgment led Mr. Gooch to purchase the controlling interest in the Star Publishing Company, of which he is the president, and in this connection he has the distinction also of figuring as editor in chief of the Star, which is the leading daily newspaper of Lincoln. The political allegiance of Mr. Gooch is given to the Democratic party, but he is essentially a business man, and thus has had no ambition for political office. In the Masonic fraternity he has received the thirty-second degree of the Scottish Rite, besides being a Noble of the Mystic Shrine, and he is affiliated also with the Sons of the American Revolution and with the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. He is an appreciative and valued member of the Nebraska State Historical Society and is a life member of each the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce, the Lincoln Country Club and the Eastridge Country Club. A man of constructive thought and action, Mr. Gooch is modest in his personality, and while he has had no inclination to become concerned in public affairs, he is known as a liberal, loyal and progressive citizen who is always ready to assist in advancing measures and enterprises projected for the civic and material wellbeing of his home city and state. Mr. Gooch married Miss Jessie Holloway, of St. Paul, Minnesota, she having been educated in private schools in that city, and being now a gracious and popular factor in the representative social and cultural circles of Nebraska's capital city, where she is a member of the Woman's Club, the Lincoln Art Association and the Lincoln and the Eastridge Country Clubs. Mr. and Mrs. Gooch have three children: Amsden, Herbert E., Jr., and Ann. The elder son is, in 1926, a member of the sophomore class in Princeton University, at Princeton, New Jersey.

ROBERT ALLEN GOOCH.

Robert Allen Gooch, who is making an excellent record in the office of circuit court clerk in Williamson county, was born in Rutherford county, Tennessee, on the 1st of August, 1862, his parents being Dr. Allen and Elizabeth (Smith) Gooch, who were also natives of this state, the former born in Davidson county and the latter in Rutherford county. On leaving Davidson the father took up his abode in Rutherford county, and the farm on which he lived was situated in three counties.

CARL S. KINCAID. page 404

Robert A. Gooch pursued his more advanced education in Burritt College at Spencer, Tennessee, from which he was graduated with the class of 1883. He then took up the profession of teaching, which he followed in the public schools of [p.404] Rutherford county, proving a most capable and efficient instructor. Subsequently, however, he abandoned educational work in order to devote his attention to farming and he was engaged in tilling the soil for a number of years. Later he became circuit court clerk in Williamson county, the duties of which position he is still discharging in a most creditable and highly satisfactory manner. He is a democrat in his political views, while his religious faith is indicated by his membership in the Christian church. He has spent his entire life in Middle Tennessee, now making his home in the town of Franklin, and he enjoys an enviable reputation as one of the competent public officials as well as representative and esteemed citizens of Williamson county.

Biographical and Historical Memoirs of Western Arkansas

[p.41] BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES.

W. N. Sandlin. Among the progressive and popular merchants of Morrilton is the subject of this sketch. He began his mercantile career when 20 years old (1871) as a clerk for D. L. Downs of Hartsell, Ala. After a clerkship of about two years he became a partner, and continued as such till 1882, when he came to Morrilton, and formed a partnership with a Mr. Speaks, who died after about two years, since which time the business has been conducted with marked success and ability. Mr. Sandlin carries a stock of general merchandise to the value of about $15,000, with an annual business of about $75,000. Besides his business he owns a beautiful residence on Moose street, which he occupies; a fine residence near the convent; also, other real estate in the city and eighty acres of unimproved land six miles from Morrilton, all of which is the result of his own industry and good financing. He owes his nativity to Decatur, Ala., where he was born in 1851, being the eighth of a family of four sons and five daughters. He was reared on a farm, with a country education; hence he is a self-made man. He was married in 1884 to Miss Mamie Gooch, a daughter of Albert and Margaret Gooch, the latter of whom is still living at Montgomery, Ala. Mr. Gooch departed this life at Tuscaloosa, Ala., where Mrs. Sandlin was born. Mr. and Mrs. Sandlin are the parents of two daughters, and are active members of the Episcopal Church. In politics Mr. Sandlin is a Democrat. He is a member of the Knights of Pythias, Hermion Lodge, No. 28, of which he was once Prelate. His parents were James and Elizabeth C. (Ferguson) Sandlin, who were natives of South Carolina, the former born- about 1809 or 1810, and the latter, 1813. When young they went to Alabama, where they married and spent the rest of their lives, dying at Hartsell—Mr. Sandlin in 1887, and his wife in 1888. Mrs. Sandlin was a member of the Methodist Church. Mr. Sandlin was a farmer by occupation. Their parents all died in Alabama.
